

FOR THE RECORD

Spoke about Non-Insulated safes with [redacted]
Office of Security.

From our talk I gathered:

1. He is familiar with the MOSLER Non-Insulated Safe.
2. He has met with [redacted] about 2 drawer safes (Non-Insulated) for use with desks in new building.
3. A model of the MOSLER safe is now in Building 13.
4. [redacted] in DD/I is interested in Non-Insulated.
5. The Agency has a 5 & 20 rule -
All safes must resist 5 minutes forced entry and 20 minutes surreptitious entry.
Non-Insulated passes the 20 but not the 5.
6. Executive Order 10501 requires Top Secret material to be kept in Fire Resistant, Insulated Safes. In a fire proof building the intent of this requirement would be met in a non-insulated safe.
7. Office of Security will need to do a Staff Study before it can change its policy and approve use of Non-Insulated Safes.
8. At present Office of Security could not approve anyone's request to use Non-Insulated safes.
9. Office of Security intends to have TSS examine the Non-Insulated safe to draft some improvement specifications.
10. He agrees that it would be wiser not to add non-insulated safes to our list of Standard Filing Equipment at this time.
